Quotes: “Could Easter 2026 become a moment of hope? In a world that frightens us and in which war and violence seem to be drawing ever closer. Where callousness and decay are the order of the day. Would there – in that world – perhaps be room for something to shift within me, within you? Could what has grown and taken root within us for so long lead to new possibilities, because you truly (truly!) believe it and live from that conviction??”
