

The sacred in the everyday

Image for the weekly letter for Sunday, August 3, 2025, no. 22

Quote:

"The moment you rest on a bench by the stream, the conversation at the kitchen table, that text message with encouraging words, a friend who unexpectedly drops by with an article in hand: "You have to read this." By being present with the right intention and full attention, such a moment can become a moment of awareness, connection, and deepening. In that sense, life itself becomes a pilgrimage, and every step you take is a step inward."
