

The power of gentleness

Picture by the weeklyletter nr. 35 2025

Quotes: “So let us choose gentleness, love, and attention for many, for true Christmas is not in what we receive, but in the warmth we share.”

Comment: In silence, love isn't lost, but rather grows stronger. It's in the small gestures: a shared glance, a gentle smile during a difficult moment, a comforting touch when words would only make things harder. These are the moments when love doesn't need explaining; it simply is.
